

4 Traps to Avoid when Choosing Your ELD Provider

Since the electronic logging device (ELD) mandate passed, there has been an influx of new ELD solution providers. Selecting the right provider ensures your company remains productive and has room to grow.

Here are four traps you can avoid by choosing an ELD provider with a proven track record in the industry.

Costly hardware replacement

Always look for a solution that meets the needs of your business at a reasonable price.

But keep in mind that the solution with the lowest up-front cost could require expensive replacement if it doesn't deliver, especially for large fleets.

When comparing ELD providers, pay attention to results and hardware reliability over time.

Lost revenue

If your wheels aren't turning, your revenue suffers.

Keep drivers on the road and your loads moving by selecting a provider that offers 24/7 support, quick updates, through a flexible cloud-native ELD solution.

Future violations

As the industry evolves, regulations will adjust to keep up.

Ensure your provider anticipates change and keeps compliance experts on their team so your ELD solution can adapt.

Limited growth

Your business is always changing.

When your ELD solution integrates with a robust platform and other proven applications, you can increase operational efficiency, revenue, and teamwork.

Remain competitive with an ELD solution provider that's ready to help your company grow.
